Your local love has never been more important. Families already facing barriers—poverty, hunger, mental illness and social isolation—need even more help now. That’s why United Way is working to sustain the vital social safety net that thousands of kids like Leila depend on. You can help. When you show your local love, people, families and entire neighbourhoods thrive.

Together, more than ever. Donate today.
Your donation, each hour of volunteering, every act of kindness—no matter how big or how small—helps ensure United Way funded programs and services are there when people need them most. When everyone gets a fair shot at their best life, our whole community thrives.

Thank you for showing your local love.
